This week

Your BE doesn't know if we have a program today. Here is what he received from our Secretary, Lion Sal GONZALEZ: "I don't know whether we have a speaker for today. I invited the Mexican Consul or a person of his choice to speak to the club about the significance of Cinco de Mayo, on account that today is Cinco de Mayo or May 5th. Yesterday, they were still trying to get someone, but as of this morning. I have not heard whether anyone from the Consulate is going to speak."

evening "Invite a friend to dinner" event. We had several potential new members in att

Winners

New Lion Eric GONZALEZ has Free Fines so we can't fine him for bringing his girlfriend to last week's meeting. Lion 2VP Patrick OROZCO is our Greeter. As he usually greets everyone anyway, it was a waste of assignment. Whomever it is that is #25 had his name drawn for the Attendance Prize. In typical Noontimer fashion, no one had an attendance roster so we have no idea who won — and we managed to perform this magic on an evening when we were attempting to impress potential new members. You can take Noontimers out of the Noon meeting, but you can't get rid of the ineptitude. Lion Eric attempted a rare double as his name was drawn for the Mad Marble Malarkey, but he was unable to grab the white marble and missed $149.50.

Next week

David Maron, with the Ventura Civic Alliance, will be here to speak about the Alliance's just released 2017 State of the Region report.

Last Week

Lion BE Toby SCOTT managed to put together a few cogent words about the history of Lionism and why we are all Lions. Went pretty well for our first
